

Michelle, where's Steph? She's gonna be late for school.

She's still putting on makeup. Dad, when do I get to wear makeup? Minutes are great you know.

Sweetheart, you don't need makeup, you're naturally beautiful.

They're saying Steph indeed are Bow Wows? No honey they're not Bow.. Wow! Steph what're you wearing?

Clothes.

Let me rephrase that, what are you not wearing? Eeeeeeeeeeeehk! Danny for a hundred, what is a long enough shirt?

Dad, please don't embarrass me, Gia is gonna be here any minute.

Gia? Honey, you know I'm starting to wonder if she's having too much of an influence on you.

Dad, don't worry she's not I am my own person.

Hey Steph!

Hey Gia!

Looks like you're her person too.

Hi little Michelle, are you ready for your first day of third grade?

Are you ready for your third year of seventh grade?

Whoa Steph. Hey next time you borrow my makeup just use a day's worth.

It's a long day.

You know, DJ's right I think you'll have to go upstairs and chip some of that off.

Dad, that's not fair! It's my face...

And I want to see more of it and less of your belly button.

Fine.. Come on let's go.

DJ, let's go! Time's wasting, senior year's waiting.

Kimmy, we have plenty of time. What's the rush?

What's the rush? I got to get a date for the senior prom.

Kimmy, prom's nine months away.

Nine? I thought it was ten. Oh, this is getting grim, come on let's move.

Bye..

Bye..

What a waste, I only got to look cool for like 12 seconds.

Just.. leave the mascara, eyes are the first thing a guy notices.

Really?

Well, for now.

Ahhh.. that's much better, here's my little angel face.

I'm ruined.

Steph, I don't wanna be a nag, but I kind of remember telling you to clean up your room yesterday.

Dad, I'll do it later.

Yeah..but you said that before and that would make later now wouldn't it? Sweetheart, you're gonna have a much much better day at school knowing that your room is neat and tidy, I know I used to.

It's your room, why does your dad care if it's clean?

My dad cares if your room is clean. But you're right, I like it like this, I'll clean it when I want to.

Let's go.

Wait. Perfect.